How much do mortgage brokers charge?

Almost all Mortgage Lab services are at no direct cost to you as our brokers get paid a commission by the banks and other lenders when a mortgage is finalised or refixed.

The exceptions to this:

- If a mortgage is paid off or discharged within 27 months, a fee may be incurred. See our FAQ: What if I sell my home or refinance my mortgage shortly after using a mortgage broker?
- Finance companies may require a fee to be added to the loan rather than paying us a commission. You'll always be made aware of these fees long before they are locked in.
- If, following the service provided by the adviser, you elect not to continue engaging Mortgage Lab to settle the mortgage or finalise the insurance product, the adviser may charge you an hourly rate of $250 for the work provided. The maximum charge we will typically invoice for is $2,500.

What if I sell my home or refinance my mortgage shortly after using a mortgage broker?

Mortgage advisers (often called mortgage brokers) are paid by the bank when a mortgage is drawn down. If that mortgage is discharged (repaid and closed) within a short amount of time – typically 27 months – the broker must repay some or all of the commission (often referred to as a clawback). In this instance, the mortgage broker has essentially done the work for no pay.

We reserve the right to charge for our time if a clawback is incurred. The fee will be the estimated amount of hours the mortgage took at an hourly rate of $250 per hour. Unlike other fees, such as Break Fees from the bank, we have capped the amount we can charge clients at $2,500.

If you are refinancing or selling your house, the best thing to do is immediately talk to your adviser and discuss if any clawback fees will be charged.

Do we pay for insurance advice?

Our Insurance Advisers are paid by the insurance company when the cover is put in place. There are no fees for our advice.

A fee may be incurred if you change insurance companies within 24 months of the policy being issued. Please see how FAQ: Are there fees if I change insurance companies in the future?

Which insurance providers do you recommend?

Are there fees if I change insurance companies in the future?

Insurance Brokers are paid by the insurance company when your cover starts. If that cover is cancelled within 24 months, the broker is required to repay some or all of that commission.

We reserve the right to charge for our time if a clawback is incurred. The fee will be the estimated amount of hours the insurance application took at an hourly rate of $250 per hour. Unlike other fees, such as Break Fees from the bank, we have capped the amount we can charge clients at $2,500.

If you are wanting to change insurance companies, the best thing to do is immediately talk to your adviser and discuss if any clawback fees will be charged.

How does Mortgage Lab deal with conflicts of interest?

From time to time we may receive additional referral payments from our business partners. Some advisers may receive payments for referring mortgages, Life and Health insurance, KiwiSaver, currency exchange or Fire and General insurance. Mortgage Lab and the advisers do a significant amount of due diligence to make sure that all referrals are to companies of the highest quality and compliance standards. The decision to refer to a partnering business is based on quality service first and the payment received second.

From time to time a product provider may give us a gift, hamper or ticket to an event. The decision to refer to a product provider is based primarily on the best product for the client, not because of any gift received. We follow a six-step advice process to assess which product is best for you.

What are our duties and obligations to you?

We are bound by the duties of the Financial Markets Conduct Act (431I, 431K, 431L and 431M) to:

- Meet the standards of competence, knowledge and skill set out in the Code of Conduct
- Give priority to the clients' interest and
- Exercise care, diligence and skill and
- Meet the standards of ethical behavior, conduct, and client care set out in the Code of Conduct.
